Show Guide, maps and bags

The show's official bag including the Guide Book of participants and a map of the exhibition area will be given to you upon request.

Press Club and Editorial Room

The Editorial room is a premium service dedicated to journalists. It is equipped with MAC and PC computers, Internet connections, a printer and free Wifi access. A staff member is available to help you during office hours.

The Press Club is a lounge area where journalists can meet with market participants and conduct their meetings/interviews. The facility is equipped with a bar serving refreshments and coffee.

A daily programme, listing all major events taking place during the show, is available at the Press Club (paper copies and power point presentation streaming on giant screens inside the Club). A billboard provides journalists with additional information and event invitations posted by PR representatives of the companies present.

Reed MIDEM press officers have their offices next to the Club and are available for your assistance at any time during opening hours. The Press team is happy to help journalists make contact with conference speakers, exhibitors and participants present at the show.

Official show pictures

All registered journalists receive their personal codes to access the online photobank and are welcome to download pictures for their professional use. The service is free of charge and rights to all pictures from this photobank have been cleared.

A selection of photos is also accessible and can be directly downloaded from the Press section of the Reed MIDEM corporate website without using a login and password.

If you need photos of a specific event, please contact the press team.

Detailed opening hours and additional information regarding journalists' participation at our tradeshow will be sent to accredited journalists via e-mail within the two weeks that precede the event.
