Bev Craig, Leader at Manchester City Council, said:

"This is an important moment for Manchester and the wider city-region. There are many transformational projects underway: major residential and office space schemes; a complete rethink of our transport infrastructure; game-changing retail, leisure, and cultural developments – and most are striving to meet net-zero targets, improve equality, and offer a better quality of life for all. I am therefore delighted that The Manchester Partnership will return to MIPIM in 2023, ready to reaffirm the city-region on the international stage, and using our 20 years of success at the show as a vehicle to do so".

Business South Group CEO, Leigh-Sara Timberlake said:

"Last year was the first time the Central South was represented at MIPIM and the overwhelming response from our private-sector led consortium, was that it was well worth attending and business relationships have been established as a result. We have had a ringing endorsement from partners and they want to attend MIPIM in 2023, with the understanding that it should be the foundation of a strategy to jointly promote the Central South on a global stage."

Rohan Marwaha, UK Managing Director, RX, said:

"2023 will mark another important year for UK cities as they seek to attract vital capital inflows to support major housebuilding, infrastructure and regeneration projects. We have a huge amount of interest globally in MIPIM 2023 and next year's event will undoubtedly build on the success of the 2022 edition which brought together over 20,000 people. There has arguably never been a more important time to promote the UK as a destination for international investment and MIPIM is an unparalleled platform to achieve that."

MIPIM 2023 takes place on 14-17 March in Cannes, France. Following the post-pandemic hiatus, MIPIM 2022 saw the return of 20,000 delegates from over 80 countries. Delegates from France made up the largest contingent, followed by the UK and then Germany. MIPIM 2022 featured over 360 speakers, with 2,400 exhibiting companies at more than 350 exhibition stands and pavilions across 18,500m² of exhibition area.
